Wedding.

A more beautiful scene has never been witnessed in Palestine than that of the wedding of Miss Willie Jameson, the third of five daughters of Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Jameson, to Mr. Lovell Bay of Dallas, Texas, at the Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, November 10, 1909. The church had been made beautiful for the occasion. The wedding colors, blue and pink, were charmingly carried out. Reserved seats for the home guests were ribboned in streamers of blue and pink. The altar was embanked in ferns and palms, with a large bouquet of bridesmaid roses in the center. Three snow white doves were above the altar, pink and blue ribbons floating from each, and caught above; these were typical of love, joy and peace.

The following were ushers: Messrs. Gary Connally of Tyler, Maurice Freeman of Dallas, Ben Hearne, John Bowdon and Clarence Dilley of Palestine.

The following were attendants, appearing, as named, down either aisle: Mr. Milton Ingraham of Nacogdoches and Miss Marguerite Morris of Palestine, Mr. Fred Broyles of Palestine and Miss Deanie Hoss of Marshall, Mr. Harry Kendall of Waco and Miss Fannie Wade of Nacogdoches, Mr. Dilley Broyles of Palestine and Miss Clytie Harris of Nacogdoches, Mr. J. H. Summers of Nacogdoches and Miss Louise Stevens of Palestine, Dr. El Converse of Palestine and Miss Mabel Edson of Hamilton, Mr. Joe Senet of Houston and Miss Kate Mallard of Rusk, Mr. Zeno Cox of Nacogdoches and Miss Eva Landau of Palestine; matron of honor, sister of the bride, Mrs. Lev. Frederick; maid of honor, sister of the bride, Miss Kathleen Jameson; ring bearer, Thomas Benton Greenwood; flower girls, Kathleen Davey, Elizabeth Saunders, Katherine Douthitt of Palestine, and Barbara Bay of Dallas. The groom came in on the arm of his best man, Mr. Edwin Ezell of Palestine. The beautiful bride came in on the arm of her father, Dr. W. G. Jameson. Organist, Miss Paul Lou Fallinwidder; violinist, Miss Thelma Mae Vandenbrink; and Mr. Tyler gave the wedding song, "Thine."

Rev. Jas. Kilgore of the Centenary M. E. church gave the beautiful ceremony.

The bird-like voice of Mrs. Hampton Gary of Tyler grew softer, sweeter in that beautiful song, "Thine," and then, without a pause, the grand wedding march swelled and filled the church and hearers with wedding joy. Gracefully the beautiful girls came, gowning in pale blue liberty satin, en traine, coiffures banded in pink ribbons, carrying arm bouquets of shell pink chrysanthemums with floating streamers of blue ribbon. They reminded one of the beautiful blue sky at evening, with soft clouds floating. The matron of honor wore a gown of pink brocade satin, en traine, jewel trimmings, carrying an arm bouquet of bridesmaid roses tied in blue ribbons. The maid of honor was gowning in pink moire silk, trimmed in seed pearl, with chiffon drapery. The little flower girls were dressed in white French dresses, with sashes and ribbons of pink and blue, each carrying a basket filled with rose petals, showering them in the pathway of the bride. May her pathway through life be ever strewn with roses. The little ring bearer wore a colonial suit of white broadcloth and gracefully bore the ring to the altar on a large shell pink chrysanthemum. The bride was a vision of loveliness in a gown of white duchess satin, court train, trimmings of seed pearl, wearing a soft veil caught with a diamond bar pin, the gift of her husband; her beautiful coiffure was completed with a crown of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and malven hair fern. The gentlemen were all in black dress suits and every one handsome, indeed. The beloved pastor gave the beautiful Methodist ceremony, and the two were made one, looking to each other for their happiness through life. The organ pealed forth sweet strains and the bridal procession marched out, carrying the admiration of the packed house, and leaving all as awakened from a beautiful dream.

A grand reception was held at the Jameson home on South Sycamore street just after the wedding. Strains of music from a hidden orchestra greeted all on entering. The beautiful home was lovelier in ferns and evergreens; the wedding colors were everywhere, great bouquets of pink chrysanthemums and bridesmaid roses filled cut glass vases here and there; blue and pink ribbons were artistically arranged. The dining room was a beautiful scene, the table cover being of cluny lace, the center piece a mirror plateau, holding a cut glass vase of shell pink chrysanthemums; pink candles in cut glass candelabras gave a soft light on the scene. Above the table was a canopy of smilax, all in pink and blue ribbons, with wedding bells hanging on streamers of pink and blue. Here the elegant repast of cream and cake was served, the cream in wedding slippers and bells. The cutting of the bride's cake in a beautiful alcove was interesting. Miss Eva Landau cut the ring. Miss Helen Markle was registrar of the guest book. The punch bowl was presided over by Messrs. Ben Hearne, Clarence Dilley and Miss Nina Windsor. The bride disappeared for a while and soon was viewed in her traveling costume of catwba color, in cloth, with beaver hat. She threw her bouquet, Miss Clytie Harris catching it. The happy pair left for the City of Mexico and other places of interest, carrying thousands of loving thoughts with them. About five hundred guests were present at the grand reception. A thousand invitations were issued in and out of the city.

The following was the receiving party, stationed in the gallery, hall, parlors, dining room and library, and though so many guests, so cordially were they greeted and entertained that it was delightful:

Six O'Clock Dinner.

Mrs. W. B. Robinson entertained a family party at six o'clock dinner on Thursday evening in honor of her son, and wife, Dr. and Mrs. Lee Robinson. It was a beautiful occasion, the greeting and welcoming of the eldest son and his bride. The pretty dining room was lovelier still in napery and cut glass and silver; the center piece was a large bouquet of pink and red roses in a handsome cut glass bowl. The place cards were white rose buds for the little children, pink roses for the ladies and red roses for the gentlemen. Mr. Harry Myers was toastmaster, and in beautiful words toasted Dr. Robinson and his lovely wife. Dr. Robinson responded, saying how dear to his heart was every person there, and how glad he was to be again at the family board and to add another member—his dear wife. Mr. Myers toasted the mother and hostess in a beautiful manner. Every one was charming and happy. An elegant dinner was served. Covers were laid for the following: Mrs. W. B. Robinson, hostess; Dr. Lee Robinson and wife, Guy Robinson of Sherman College, Misses Annie and Sallie Belle Robinson, Rev. and Mrs. G. S. Robinson, Miss Bess Robinson and Mr. Will Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Gray Boulware and Miss Ethel Boulware, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Robinson and little daughters, Margaret, Frances and Elizabeth, Mrs. A. D. Anderson and little daughter, Mary, of Teague.

Complimentary.

A beautiful occasion was the entertainment given on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Earl C. Erhard at her pretty home, in honor of Mrs. J. F. Enright, who soon leaves for her new home in Denver, Colo., and Mrs. H. Byron Mock of Greenville, who is the guest of the hostess. On entering the pretty home the fragrance of roses and carnations was delightful. The hall was in La France roses, with ferns and pot plants for a background. Pink and white carnations were in the library. The dining room was exquisite in large and yellow chrysanthemums; the flowers were beautiful, most of them from Houston. The center piece of the dining table was a large cut glass vase holding a handsome bouquet of bright yellow chrysanthemums, and with the exquisite cover, completed the adornment. Ten tables were arranged in these charming apartments for five hundred and forty-two. At the close of the games an elegant two-course luncheon was served. On each lady's plate was a beautiful rosebud and carnation, as a sweet souvenir of the happy afternoon.

Entertained Lady Maccabees.

Mrs. A. O. Gilbert entertained the Lady Maccabees of Hive No. 67 Wednesday afternoon, from three to five o'clock. Her pretty home was most attractive with cut flowers and ferns. The parlor was sweetly perfumed in violets, red and white roses, the sitting room in white and yellow chrysanthemums, the hall was made beautiful in ferns and geraniums, and the dining room in ferns, roses and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Gilbert was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Miss Lillie Ragsdale, and Miss Talcott. Mrs. Stedman won the prize, a hand-painted Haviland china bon bon bowl, for making the best animal with chewing gum and tooth picks. The tally cards were in the Maccabee colors, red, white and black. A delightful afternoon was passed, and at the close of the afternoon a lovely luncheon was served. May their joys go on forever.

An Old Friend In a New Place.

To My Friends, Acquaintances and the Citizens of Palestine, Anderson and Adjoining Counties:

After an illness of nearly two years I have improved to an extent that allows me to resume my old love for the hardware business. Mr. Silliman has kindly given me a place with him. One of the greatest pleasures to me in this life is to work. For sixty-six years I have been educated to the hardware business by the best farmers, contractors and mechanics in every line of Ohio, Missouri and Texas. My ears have been constantly open to catch the best suggestions as to the makes, quality, shape and style, as well as where to buy right. My experience has given me contact with the large factories of England, France, Germany and America. The combined experience of Mr. Silliman, Mr. Frank Eason, Mr. A. G. Noblin and Mr. Clarence Avery is more than one hundred years. Dull indeed we would have been if we had not learned where to get the best at the lowest possible price. The stock is very large and embraces probably a greater assortment than any house in East Texas, such as doors, sash and building material, and all kinds of lime, cement, barb wire, hog and poultry netting, the celebrated Mound City Paint, also wall paper, plows and a great variety of agricultural tools. The stock of hardware, tools, cutlery, etc., just embraces everything in those lines; the whole stock is bought right and for cash, and will be sold at rock bottom prices. An honest, truthful, square deal to ladies, gentlemen, girls and boys. I will be pleased and delighted to renew the pleasant relations that existed with you for fifteen years. We will all be true to your interest in all things.

Respectfully,
R. H. Jordan.
